OUR WORK

We believe in partnership and in community. Together, we perform projects and implement programs aimed at impacting and/or aligning key levers through:

- Systemwide QI
- Care Management
- Consulting & Research
- HIT and Analytics

PROBLEM

The U.S. health care system is broken. We pay more and are less healthy.

SOLUTION

Reimagined health care. Reimagination is a continuous process. As we learn new models and gain new insights, the levers we use and the results we seek to improve also evolve.

LEVERS

These strategies (or levers) in turn, can accelerate progress toward key health and health care outcomes, especially when multiple levers are moved in a simultaneous and coordinated way.

OUTCOMES

The key outcomes help us define, assess, gauge, and track our progress toward the solution: a reimagined health care system.

WE START WITH THESE LEVERS

We understand and engage the key strategies, or levers, that drive transformation. Together with clients and community partners, we serve as catalysts to align and synchronize the levers to effect and sustain real change.

TO PRODUCE THESE OUTCOMES

Outcomes improve over time as the system transforms nationally and in the communities where we work and for the populations we serve. We track the key outcomes to help us realize and sustain progress and results.

TO REALIZE OUR VISION

We align community interests, promote collaboration, and apply objectivity, experience and innovation—helping to solve the most difficult problems in health and health care. We are always evolving.

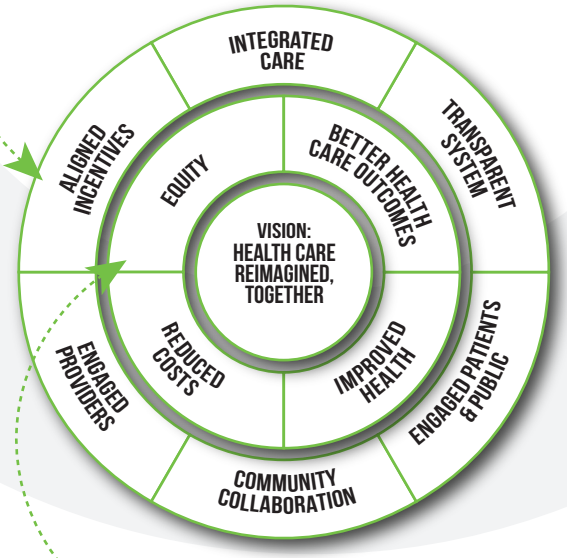

LEVERS (outside circle)

Engaged Patients & Public

Patients and the public are respected as key collaborators and are central to the design and delivery of health care. People understand the importance and impact of life and lifestyle choices on health and make choices accordingly.

Community Collaboration

Communities work across competitor boundaries and special interests to learn, share resources, solve hard problems and partner effectively in the interest of patients and the public.

Aligned Incentives

Incentives are aligned to support patient-centered, equitable, integrated, effective and efficient care, and to promote health. Plans and benefit designs also encourage value.

Transparent System

Health and health care outcomes, key health care processes, and costs and prices of care and other key system characteristics are transparent; policy decisions and system interventions are supported by public information to accelerate improvement.

Engaged Providers

Health care providers are respected as key partners, are included in the design and implementation of improvement activities and are focused on patients and key outcomes. The well-being of providers is seen as a key metric of success in system design.

Integrated Care

Care is delivered in a way that feels seamless to the patient and provider, across the continuum of delivery settings and domains and over time. Information flows across the system and is available to patients, providers, payers, and policymakers when it is needed to plan, deliver, administer and support care. Physical and behavioral health are connected. Specialty and primary care are aligned and coordinated to meet the needs of patients.

OUTCOMES (middle circle)

Equity

Diversity is valued and respected. Disparities in health and related outcomes associated with socio-economic status, race or ethnicity, gender or identity, rurality, access to care or other differences are actively identified and eliminated.

Reduced Costs

Participants in the health care system understand that there are constraints on resources available. Accordingly, health-related policy decisions and improvement interventions are guided by the potential value they can produce. Total cost of care is reduced, and health care is affordable for all.

Improved Health

Communities and the health care system focus on the health of all people. There is respect for, attention to, and investment in connectedness and community, the livability of the environment, safety, education, economic stability and security, and other social determinants of our health.

Better Health Care Outcomes

The health care system uses effective processes to achieve high quality outcomes for all patients.
